Slack & Co. Hosts Annual Company Picnic at H&H Ranch

Houston, TX—Slack & Co. Contracting, Inc. held its annual company picnic for employees and their family members on Sept. 12 at H&H Ranch.

During the picnic, children were entertained by a face painter and fun coordinator while adults played volleyball and enjoyed paddle boats. A BBQ lunch was served, followed by a brief address from Slack & Co. President Jim Slack, Jr. He thanked employees and their families for their support of the company and offered assurances of the company's financial stability to weather the economic environment. Department heads Alex Joseph (director of operations), Andrea Jennings (controller), David Felgere (director of pre-construction) and Joe Lopez (general field superintendent) also introduced their teams and thanked them for their hard work and commitment.

"I am grateful to everyone for your dedication over the years," said General Field Superintendent Joe Lopez. "We are successful because of your hard work. Thank you."

Some lucky winners went home with door prizes including a 40" TV, BBQ grill, fire pit, iPod touch, digital camera and X-Box game system. Everyone in attendance received a T-shirt and soft side cooler to commemorate the day.

"This is always a great event," says Jim Slack, Jr. "I enjoy getting to meet everyone's family and having the opportunity to thank our team for their hard work and dedication to the company."

Plans for the 2010 company picnic are already underway.
